Back

Would we be able to take care of ourselves and our loved ones for 72 hours?

During a crisis situation, it may happen that things we are used to will not function for some time. That is why it is good to prepare in advance and have emergency supplies ready at home for 72 hours.

What can change during a crisis situation?

- No running water from the tap.
- No electricity.
- Phones, television, and internet may stop working.
- No access to medication.
- Cooking and heating food becomes impossible.
- Heating stops working.
- Shops may be closed, or nothing may be available to buy.
- Card payments may not work.
- Toilet can only be flushed once.
- No fuel available at gas stations.
- Public transport may stop operating.

When a crisis situation occurs, our family members may be in different places without the possibility to call each other. Therefore, it is advisable to agree in advance on where we will all meet or where to go if it becomes necessary to leave home. At the same time, it is desirable to decide who and how will take care of family members with various specific needs. We should also save all important phone numbers and copies of important documents in our phones.

Emergency supplies for 72 hours

What supplies are the most important?

- [ ] Bottled drinking water
  In an emergency, an adult can manage with 2 litres of water per day.
- [ ] Containers for water
  Canisters or other sealable containers
- [ ] Stock of non-perishable food
- [ ] First aid kit and necessary medication for one week
- [ ] Battery-powered radio and flashlight
- [ ] Cash
  Coins and banknotes of various denominations

What else is important to have ready?

- [ ] Charged power bank and spare batteries

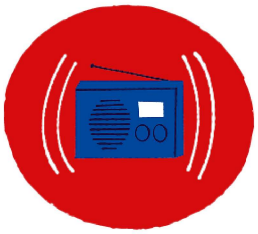
- [ ] Hand sanitizer
- [ ] Toilet paper and hygiene items
- [ ] Pet food
- [ ] Multi-purpose knife
- [ ] Fire extinguisher or fire blanket
- [ ] Strong adhesive tape
- [ ] Garbage bags
- [ ] A full fuel tank in our car (or a fully charged battery in an electric vehicle)
- [ ] Autonomous detectors of smoke and gases (e.g. carbon monoxide, propane-butane)

For emergency supplies, we can use ordinary non-perishable food and items we already have at home. We just need to make sure they are enough for the entire household for 72 hours.

What else is important

Water

Food



Information and communication

can call.

112 Emergency Calls

150 Fire and Rescue Service of the Czech Republic

155 Emergency Medical Service

158 Police of the Czech Republic

When lives are at stake, help comes fast. The 72-hour rule does not apply to situations involving serious danger.

2025 © Ministry of the Interior • Information is provided in accordance with Act No. 106/1999 Coll., on Free Access to Information.

Get Prepared

Emergency supplies

Water

Food

Information and communication

During a Power Outage

Sheltering

Evacuation

Helping neighbours

Communicating with children

Support during difficult times

Main principles of first aid

Version 2.0.33 | Design system 4.2